Surrenders Artillery to Entente Allies When Demonstration is Made

TROOPS ARE WITHDROWN

British Diplomatic Employe Arrested by Greek Patrol—Rowdies Fire Upon French Legation—Neutral Ministers Succeed in Calling Meeting of Greek Cabinet and Ente Diplomats.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Dec. 2.—After a day of terror in Athens, in which Venizelists fought royalists and Greek troops fired upon entente forces which had been landed, according to Vice Admiral du Fournet, to maintain order, a truce was arranged. King Constantine finally agreed to surrender the mountain guns demanded by the allies and the latter are withdrawing their troops with the exception of a small guard.

Disturbances began as soon as the allied troops were landed. Greek troops fired on the entente forces which occupied the zappeion, while reservists and Venizelists exchanged shots in the streets. A pitched battle between the opposing Greek forces occurred in Stadium street. The casualties have not been ascertained but it is known several civilians were killed.

The Dutch and Spanish ministers finally intervened and induced the king to surrender the guns on condition that the entente withdraw the troops, except 300 left in the zappeion. According to information from a source close to the Greek government, Admiral du Fournet telephoned to Premier Lambros suggesting an armistice which was effected after a conference of the premier with the king. While the conference was in progress and even after the French minister had been summoned to take part in it guns continued to boom. Special dispatches from Athens say the French bombarded the hill behind the palace.

The casualties in the fighting in the Greek capital are said to number 200, according to a dispatch from Athens to the Central News agency.

The king of Greece has agreed to give up the artillery demanded by Admiral Du Fournet. The allied troops are withdrawing from Piracus.

An entente diplomat informed the Associated Press correspondent that Admiral Du Fournet ordered the withdrawal of his troops after King Constantine agreed to surrender six batteries of mountain artillery to the allies. The allied forces are already leaving the Zappeion, only 300 remaining as a guard.

The French legation which was guarded by French marines, was fired upon during the crisis. The Greek military authorities assert that the firing was done by rowdies. Secretary Bridgeman of the British legation was arrested in the streets by a Greek patrol and taken to a police station where he was instantly released.

On the intervention of the Spanish and Dutch ministers the entire cabinet and the entente diplomats met at the French legation at 8 o'clock this evening to discuss the possibility of an agreement. An armistice was finally arranged and the firing ceased. The number of casualties is not known but many civilians are known to have been killed.

Admiral Du Fournet landed some four hundred marines at an early hour and marched toward Athens seizing Philopappos hill overlooking the city. The Greek guards on all roads leading to the capital refused to permit a second marine detachment to advance further. All trams between Athens and Piraeus were stopped and no carriages were permitted to enter the city.

In Athens there was intense excitement. Women, carrying loads of provisions hastily thronged the streets above which bullets were flying. Old men with hunting guns on their backs mounted guard at the street corners so as to release the soldiers for the fighting outside. Four hundred British marines reinforced the French force in the Zappeion, the famous industrial exhibition building which lies at the south side of the gardens of the royal palace. From the surrounding hills Greeks poured bullets into the Zappeion. The allied forces appeared to be acting under a preconceived military plan which was intended to spare the city as much as possible.

Vice Admiral Du Fournet telephoned to Premier Lambros at 2 p. m. suggesting an armistice. Before word could reach all the Greek detachments posted on the hills fighting broke out again. A French effort to storm the wireless station on Observatory hill southwest of the city, was repulsed at the point of bayonets. An admistice finally was effected.

The premier came to the palace at 3:30 p. m. to seek final instructions from the king before conferring with Vice Admiral Du Fournet. While the premier was in the palace fighting began again. The French force in the Zappeion, consisting of

CHRISTMAS DISPLAY DAY, DEC. 5
IS RARE EVENT FOR THE KIDDIES!

One of the UNIQUE features of "Christmas Display Day," Tuesday, Dec. 5, which will be observed GENERALLY by Newark merchants, is the SPECIAL consideration to be given to those things which INTEREST the CHILDREN, God bless 'em!

On that day parents are invited to bring the KIDDIES to the stores, to feast their eyes on the displays of everything that make the Yuletide one of merriment and good cheer.

Just as "Style Show" in the fall marks the exposition of new things of the wardrobe, so "Christmas Display Day" is the public demonstration that holiday shopping is in full blast.

Never before in Newark's history has there been such CONCERTED action on the part of the storekeepers to give the buying public a COMPOSITE picture of the large and varied stocks that Newark offers.

The Chamber of Commerce, as an educational institution, is promoting COMMUNITY appreciation of the mercantile advantages of our town. When we can't get just what we NEED or as GOOD at home, it is our privilege to go ELSEWHERE. No argument against THAT, but it is our DUTY to build Newark up in every line of ACTIVITY and that means intelligent CO-OPERATION.

Just now the keynote of discussion is holiday buying; later there will be other subjects to arouse community thought. In this Get-Together movement, let's try the FIRST step by—SHOPPING EARLY AND AT HOME.

MORE MYSTERIES FOR THE POLICE; SHEET ONLY CLUE

The troubles of the Newark police department were increased 10 knots this morning, when two more mysteries were added to the safe robbery mystery of Thursday night, when two men entered the Thomas Edward's poolroom, near the Patrol station in Fourth street, and carried away a 300 pound safe.

Early last evening the officers received a call from neighbors in the vicinity of the Manhattan hotel in Church street, that a man had been seen escaping from one of the rooms in the hotel. When the police arrived they found a white sheet dangling from one of the windows.

An investigation of the hotel failed to reveal anything missing from the rooms or why the man chose that method of leaving the house. Chief Sheridan is of the opinion that someone was playing a joke, by pretending to escape from the landlord. The man from whose window the sheet was hanging, according to the proprietor of the hotel, was not in the arrears with his room rent.

Later it was learned that he was working. This lead to the theory that someone had burglarized the room, but nothing was found disturbed in the room.

A short time later a report was received by the police, of a holdup in East Newark. It was alleged that a railroad man returning home from his run, had been held up, beaten by two men and robbed of a considerable money.

The police were unable to account for this report as no report has yet been received from anyone about a holdup. It is thought, that if such was the case, the man involved did not care to have the notoriety attendant upon a police investigation.

The safe robbery still is as much of a mystery as when it was discovered missing Friday morning. The police have followed closely several plausible clews as to the identity of the two men seen in the store by night watchman William Burke, but ran against a blank wall.

Other cities notified of the robbery have been on the watch for some indication of the checks stolen with the safe, but up until this noon, their efforts have availed nothing.

ENGLISH PAPER PREDICTS CHANGE IN THE CABINET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Dec. 2. 9:20 a. m.—Cabinet changes involving the resignation of Premier Asquith are predicted by the Manchester Guardian in an article in today's issue on the current rumors respecting political changes. The paper says:

"Rumors, perhaps one ought to say more than rumors, are going around in the lobby of imminent changes, the current rumor being that Bonar Law may replace Premier Asquith for the time being, but that a final settlement would be Lloyd George as prime minister." The Guardian concludes that the condition government has not the collective prestige to resist the attacks being made upon it and that the house committee has reached the mood in which it is ready to create another ministry. The Express says that a political crisis has suddenly arisen anew that the coalition government is likely to go. According to this paper a new war council, probably consisting of Premier Asquith, Lloyd George, Bonar Law, Arthur Balfour and Sir Edward Carson will be appointed.

SAUSAGE FROM JACK RABBIT IS LATEST PROJECT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Austin, Texas, Dec. 2.—A plant for the manufacture of sausage from the meat of the Texas jackrabbit is to be erected soon and put into operation in west Texas, according to an announcement today by Fred W. Davis, state commissioner of agriculture. Promoters of the plan expect to handle most of the annual rabbit crop in their mill.

The Texas state department of agriculture has decided to attempt to create a country-wide demand for rabbit meat. It is estimated that not less than a million Texas-born and reared rabbits will be shipped to New England and eastern markets during the next few months.

Commissioner Davis says the rabbits are quoted in some cities at higher prices than turkey or chicken.

FLANKING

Movement of Great Magnitude is Undertaken by Russians to Save Ally

THREATEN TEUTONIC REAR

Supply Line of Von Falkenhayn's Army Menaced By Slow Assault Along 250-Mile Front in Maldovia—Teutonic Allis Threaten to Flank Bucarest Garrison and Cut Off Retreat.

Indications point to the probability that two flanking operations on a large scale are in progress on the Rumanian front. The one apparently is intended by the Russians to save King Ferdinand's armies and possibly his capital and the other by the Teutonic allies to force the evacuation of Bucharest and cut off the troops defending it.

Having assembled what seems to be a huge force along the range of the lower Carpathians the Russians are pressing a great offensive on a front of approximately 250 miles, running along the western frontier of the Rumanian province of Moldavia an dextending northwest along the Bukowina border.

Already they are declared to have scored such successes as to lead to expectations that the supply lines of General von Falkenhayn's armies invading Rumania from the north may shortly be seriously menaced.

The threat to the Rumanians comes from Field Marshal von Mackensen on the southern and controlling virtually the entire course of the Danube as far as Tchernavoda as they do, the Teutonic allies. It has been pointed out, seemed likely to attempt throwing forces across it at points further and further east, to outflank each line taken up by the Rumanians as they retired under the pressure of Von Falkenhayn's forces from the north and west, and such of Von Mackensen's troops as were already on the north bank of the river.

Entente commentators point out that such a move may now have been effected, taking the mention of Petrograd that hostile patrols have appeared near Lake Griaka as indicating that a new crossing has been made by Von Mackensen near Oltenitza, southeast of Bucharest. An advance from this point would hem in the Rumanians around Bucharest, except to the northwest and if carried far enough would altogether cut off their retreat.

The Crisis in Greece seems to have passed for the present with the announcement from Athens that King Constantine has agreed to give up the artillery demanded by the entente and that the allied forces which were landed are being withdrawn, an armistice having been arranged.

Before this panic had reigned in Athens with an exchange of fire between Greeks and entente marines. During the fighting many civilians are reported to have been killed.

RUMANIANS

MAY FIND IT PERILOUS TO ATTEMPT A DEFENSE OF BUCHAREST ALONG ARGESCHU

Need Strong Reinforcements Promptly to Stop Advance of Von Mackensen's Troops Along Danube.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, Dec. 2.—Hopes of the Rumanians ability to save their capital by making a stand on the line of the Argeschu are now dwindling rapidly. The German plan is apparently to envelope the Rumanians on both flanks and endeavor to cut off the first and second Rumanian armies. According to the news of the last two days this plan is being swiftly carried out.

By the capture of Campulung the Germans gained a new line of supplies and communications through Torzburg pass which greatly facilitates their operations. In the meantime Field Marshal von Mackensen continues to throw forces across the Danube at different points. The report in yesterday's Russian communique that enemy patrols have appeared in the region of Lake Griaka indicates that Mackensen has effected a new crossing somewhere in the neighborhood of Oltenitza.

Unless strong Russian reinforcements arrive in time to throw Mackensen's forces back across the Danube it is thought that the Rumanians will find it too dangerous to try and save Bucharest by making a stand on the Argeschu river.

Regarding the fate of the fortresses in Belgium and other strong forts, little confidence is felt here in the ability of Brialmont's fortifications around Bucharest to withstand the attack of German heavy ordnance.

According to the estimate formed by military observers some days ago the central powers have some 15 divisions in western Rumania to which must be added whatever forces Mackensen has been able to throw across the Danube. Rumania

BOYCOTT DRIVES PRICES DOWNWARD SEEK PROSECUTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Boycotts on food supplies are being marked with success in Chicago, members of woman's and civic organizations participating in the "food war" announced today. It was pointed out that diminishing prices of butter, eggs and poultry can be attributed in a large measure to the campaign.

Speakers at a downtown mass meeting, held in protest against the high cost of food urged federal, state and city prosecution of brokers holding provisions for high prices.

DEPORTATION OF BELGIANS CREATES BAD IMPRESSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Dec. 2.—Representations on the deportation of Belgian civilians, which have been made by the United States to Germany recently, will be emphasized personally on German officials by Ambassador Gerard when he returns to his post for which he sails next Tuesday. He will convey the individual message of President Wilson and tell of the bad impression created among the American people by recent treatment of the Belgians.

For a time it was believed the United States government would wait until Mr. Gerard reached Berlin before presenting formally its communication. It is now disclosed, however, that the protest, based on broad grounds of humanity, was hurried along partly because of fear that Germany's policy in Belgium would interrupt American relief work there.

U. S. ARMY TESTS NEW TRACTOR ON THE TEXAS DESERT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

San Antonio, Dec. 2.—The United States army's first caterpillar tractor train was believed by officers here to have started today on the second half of its crawling journey over the western Texas desert between Marfa and Presidio. Reports of the train's experimental trip are being awaited with interest by officers at Fort Sam Houston, who see in the new mode of transportation a revolutionizing influence in traffic along the border where good roads are few and motor trucks cannot go.

The train consists of a caterpillar tractor, somewhat in principle like the English "tanks" in France, and four trailers loaded with lumber. Several days will be required for the 63 mile trip, which began Thursday, as the tractor makes only 2 1-2 miles an hour.

GERMANS WIN PITCHED BATTLE AT CAMPULUNG

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Berlin, Dec. 2.—(Wireless to Sayville.)—The Austro-German army advancing from the region of Campulung has defeated the Rumanians in a pitched battle, breaking through their lines, according to today's official report. More than 6000 Rumanians have been captured in western Rumania, together with 49 cannon. In the advance toward Bucharest the Teutonic forces have reached the Argechu river.

The Russian and Rumanian forces are continuing to make fierce attacks along the Bukowina and Moldavian frontiers. Today's statement from army headquarters says the attacks were without success and that heavy losses were inflicted by the Teutonic troops.

The Russians attempted to advance yesterday near Smorgon and south of Pinsk, the war office announces. Their efforts were without success.

DEPARTMENT STORES ECONOMIZE IN PAPER; PRICE UP 400 PER CENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Dec. 2.—The high cost of wrapping paper has caused department and other retail stores to institute many novel methods of economy. The various grades of heavy paper used for "inside wrapping" have advanced in price, it is stated, between 300 and 400 per cent. in the last enghteen months.

Some of the larger store have substituted lightweight paper for heavy, are using a cheaper grade of tissue and have abandoned entirely the wrapping up of pasteboard boxes. This change alone, it was insaid, has saved many tons of paper. Group action is being discussed to effect further economies and at the same time avoid appearing "cheap" in the eyes of customers.

BOLIN

Ready to Present Witnesses Before Federal Jury in Election Frauds

FIRST SUBPOENAS ISSUED

Campaign Fund For G. O. P. May Be Investigated Since Charges are Made That City Employes in Cincinnati, Under Civil Service Were Assessed By Republican Party Leaders.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Cincinnati, Dec. 2.—A dozen or more Cincinnatians were in possession today of subpoenas to appear before the special federal grand jury Tuesday morning. The deputies in the office of U. S. Marshal Devanney who were given the first batch of subpoenas to serve reported that all the persons named had been located. A hundred more subpoenas will be issued today it is asserted. District Attorney Bolin took up the work of investigation as soon as he arrived at his office. A number of men were waiting for him and these were taken singly into his private office by the secret service agents who have had charge of securing evidence of the alleged registration and vote frauds in Cincinnati and vicinity.

Mr. Bolin has received a letter signed by M. J. Keefe of the Cincinnati Wilson Business Men's League in which he is urged to investigate the Republican campaign fund raised in Hamilton county for the recent election. Keefe charges that an inaccurate list of contributors was filed with the board of elections.

Members of the Republican executive committee said today that they will be glad to have their books investigated and will aid the federal officials if their services are required.

"We are calling to the attention of the district attorney the report that city employes, under civil service protection, were forced to contribute 2 1-2 per cent. of their annual wages to the Republican campaign fund," M. J. Keefe said today.

BIG NINE DATES FOR FOOTBALL ARE NOT FIXED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Football, baseball, track, tennis, swimming and other collegiate athletic schedules for the 1917 season of the western conference were discussed here today at a conference of the athletic directors and coaches of the "Big Nine" universities.

While it was announced that it was not planned to make definite schedules for the football season until some time late in February, an effort was made to draw up tentative cards. Many enthusiasts expected Ohio State, winner of the 1916 championship, and Northwestern, the runner up to put in bids for games with Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Chicago. Last season Ohio State met neither Chicago nor Minnesota and Northwestern had no games with either Wisconsin or Minnesota.

Early season games received some attention. The question at issue here was whether the policy of bringing in hard games with the better small eastern college teams early in the year, as was done by Illinois and Indiana this season, will be continued.

The conferees also were making definite schedules for the spring and winter track events, much discussion centering on the date and place of the winter and spring conference track meets.

Easy Way to Get Rid of Itching

Don't worry any more about that itching skin-trouble. Just get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap at any drug store. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Choosing Your Shampoo Soap

If you select a soap that contains soothing, healing properties like the resinol balsams in resinol soap, you are not likely to have trouble with dandruff, loss of hair or itching scalp. Ideal for the youngsters' heads.

Thirty Franco-Italian prisoners were brought into Athens this afternoon from Rouren where fighting temporarily had ceased.

The number of killed and wounded so far is unknown but the casualties on both sides, it is believed, will be proportionately heavy owing to the open nature of the fighting, the Franco-Italians firing from the houses and the Greeks shooting from their barracks.

In several parts of the city Greeks were fired upon from houses. All the shutters on the buildings were ordered closed.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Announcement was made today by the Smithsonian institute that Dr. Charles G. Abbot, director of its astrophysical observatory had been presented with the Rumford medal for his researches in solar radiation.

These medals are awarded by the American academy of arts and sciences to American scientists, whose discoveries and researches have greatly advanced haman knowledge of light or heat.

Dr. Abbot's investigations have disclosed that the total heat from the sun reaching the earth each year equals the heat produced by 160 billion tons of coal. He also discovered that the sun radiates varying amounts of heat at different times and may cause climatic changes. Dr. Abbot is now developing an instrument which, it is said will register a change of a billionth of a degree in temperature.

HUMAN LIBERTY IS SOUGHT IN NEW CONSTITUTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Queretaro, Mex., Friday Dec. 1, via Mexico City, Dec. 2.—In his address before the constitutional congress tonight Gen. Carranza outlined the reforms he hoped to see embodied in the constitution He said in part

"I come to deliver into your hands reforms necessary for this country Right must regulate all elements of society

"I promise to conserve the liberal spirit of the old constitution so that the new reforms will merely eliminate the dead wood and strike out articles put in by former governments for personal advantage.

"What is desired first of all is to establish the rights of the people to individual liberty. Human liberty must be guaranteed to prevent the government from taking advantage of the excuse of maintaining peace in order to commite crimes. I hope the new constitution will provide severe penalties for wrong doing on the part of public officials."

BURGLARS TAKE JEWELRY FROM GENERAL STORE

Burglars early today visited the villages of Alexandria and Johnstown, robbed two stores and escaped with jewelry valued at nearly $100. A short time after the robberies had been reported four men were seen hurrying away from Johnstown in the direction of Croton

A marshal's posse was on the job early this morning searching for some trace of the bandits, but up to noon today, no arrests had been made.

The general store of Carpenter & English at Alexandria was the first store visited by the transit burglars. Entrance was gained by "jimmying" the rear windows of the store. Jewelry in the cases and the store was stolen and the cash register considerably damaged when the drawers were pried open.

From Alexandria it is believed the burglars hurried to Johnstown, where they entered the Page drug store by the "jimmy" method on the rear windows. They were frightened away before they had a chance to take anything.

The men were seen by a man who was passing the store.

SANTA IS HERE 23 DAYS EARLY; IS TAKING ORDERS

Whist! Boys and girls, listen—I saw Santa Claus, this afternoon, and what's more surprising so did several hundred starry eyed kiddies who congested the Arcade and made the place resound with their shouts of glee, in anticipation of the treat in store for them.

The Stewart Brothers & Alward company had advertised for several weeks that Santa Claus was expected to visit their store this afternoon and long before the hour the children began to assemble all eager to greet him and whisper to him of the many thousand things they would like to find in their stocking on Christmas day. Then little sick girls and boys not to be cheated of their talk with Santa called him on the telephone and he promised to see that all their gifts would be brought to them.

The children visiting the store were given favors and spent a merry afternoon with the kindly red coated white furred and white whiskered old Santa.

CRUISING UNDER WATER.

Submarines Are Light Moving and Are Easily Controlled.

Ashore we make the mistake perhaps of thinking of a submarine as a heavy, logy body fighting always for her life beneath an unfriendly ocean, whereas she is a light moving, easily controlled creature cruising in a rather friendly element.

The ocean is always trying to lift her atop and not hold her under water. A submarine could be sent under with a positive buoyance so small—that is, with so little more than enough in her tanks to sink her—that an ordinary man standing on the sea bottom could catch her as she came floating down and bounce her up and off merely by the strength of his arms. Consider a submarine under water as we would a toy balloon in the air, say. Weight that toy balloon so that it just fails to earth. Kick that toy balloon and what does it do? Doesn't it bounce along and after a few feet fall easily down again and up and on and down again?

Picture a strong wind driving that toy balloon along the street and the baloon as it bumps along meeting an obstacle. Will the balloon smash itself against the obstacle or what will it do? What that balloon does is pretty much what a submarine would do if while running along full speed under water she suddenly ran into shoal water. She would go bumping along on the bottom and meeting an obstacle, if not too high, she would be more likely to bounce over it than to smash herself against it.—Collier's.

Must Have Been an Oversight.

Fateful Warship Names.

The ill luck attendant on British warships bearing the names of reptiles is almost beyond coincidence. The first of England's fast turbine destroyers was the Viper. She was only 312 tons, but had engines of 10,000 horsepower and could do thirty-five knots. During naval maneuvers she ran into fog, struck the rocks off the Channel islands and broke into three pieces.

Three other Vipers have been lost at different times.

The Cobra, a similar vessel to the Viper, broke her back in the North sea. Some say she hit a whale, some that it was merely force of wave and weather.

In 1890 the Serpent, a gunboat, went on the rocks off the north coast of Spain, with terrible loss of life. The death roll was 173.

Three other Serpents have been lost at different times, three Lizards, two Snakes, one Basilisk and one Crocodile. Does any one wonder, then, that England carefully avoids ships with "snaky" names?—London Answers.

Legend of Holyrood Palace.

Holyrood palace, Edinburgh, Scotland, once a British royal residence, is the subject of a strange legend. Robert Louis Stevenson alludes to it in his little book on Edinburgh. "There is a silly story," he writes, "of a subterranean passage between the castle of Holyrood and a bold highland piper who volunteered to explore its windings. He made his entrance by the upper end, playing a strathspey. The curious footed it after him down the street, following his descent by the sound of the chanter from below, until all of a sudden, about the level of St. Giles', the music came abruptly to an end and the people in the street stood at fault with hands uplifted. Whether he was choked with gases or perished in a quag or was removed bodily by the evil one remains a point of doubt, but the piper has never again been seen or heard of from that day to this."

A Traffic Tragedy.

The panicky pedestrian hesitated at the intersection of two busy streets. A motorcar was rushing upon him from one direction, from another point a motorcycle was approaching rapidly, an autotruck was coming from behind, and a taxicab was speedily bearing down upon him.

He gave a hopeless glance upward. Directly above him a runaway aeroplane was in rapid descent.

There remained for him but one resource. He was standing upon a manhole cover. Quickly seizing it, he lifted the lid, jumped into the hole—and was run over by a subway train!—New York Times.

The Moslem's Exalted Month.

Ramadan is the month exalted by Moslems above all others. In that month the Koran, according to Moslem tradition, was brought down by Gabriel from heaven and delivered to man in small sections. In that month Mohammed was accustomed to retire from Mecca to the cave of Hira for prayer and meditation. In that month Abraham, Moses and other prophets received their divine revelations. In that month the "doors of heaven are always open, the passages to hell are shut, and the devils are chained." So run the traditions.—Christian Herald.

Fifty-Fifty.

"My son," said the father impressively, "you are leading an absolutely useless life. For the last ten years you have done nothing but squander time and money."

"That's all right, dad," replied the unrepentant youth. "It isn't as if I was asking you to bear the whole burden. You just furnish the money, and I'll try to find the time."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Something In This.

Instead of the greeting, "How are you?" which makes it easy for your friends to discourse on their alleged ills, why not say "You're looking well?" which puts the burden of proof on the man who thinks he is ill.

There's an interesting bit of psychology in this.—Exchange.

How It Happened.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Handkerchief Menace.

The pocket handkerchief should be abolished, because it is a source of infection long after a person has recovered from such diseases as infantile paralysis and even common colds, says Dr. F. Robbins in the Medical Record. "The day will come," he says, "when the customary cotton rag is replaced by the cheap and clean Japanese paper napkin, which is burned after it has been used. Infants and children are helpless against the rubbing of strange handkerchiefs over their perspiring and grimy faces. The public roller towel of the past was innocuous as compared to the family pocket handkerchief. Bitter experience will drive home the lesson that neglected noses, mouths and throats are largely, if not exclusively, responsible for the ultimate crippling of the unfortunate victims of disease and ignorance."

GOVERNING BOARD OF PAN AMERICAN UNION

The Governing Board of the Pan American Union, the official international organization of the 21 American Republics, as they were seated around the great mahogany table in their assembly room in the beautiful Pan American Building at Washington on the occasion of their first winter meeting. This Board is the official Congress of all the American Republics and its building is literally the Capitol of the Western Hemisphere in the national Capital of the United States. This building is unique in that it is the only one in the world where the plenipotentiaries of a large group of nations meet regularly and officially by international agreement to consider ways and means of promoting peace, friendship and commerce among them.

Beginning with Secretary of State Robert Lansing, Chairman ex officio, who sits at the head of the table, the eight persons seated or standing on the left of the table are, in order, as follows: Romulo S. Naon, Ambassador of Argentina; Carlos M. de Pena, Minister of Uruguay; John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union; Solon Menos, Minister of Haiti; Santos A. Dominici, Minister of Venezuela; M. de Freyrey Santander, Charge d'Affairs of Peru; Gustavo Munizaga Varela, Charge d'Affairs of Chile, and Francisco J. Yanes, Assistant Director of the Pan American Union. Beginning with the Brazilian Ambrsador, Domicio da Gams, who is seated on the right of Secretary Lansing, the eight on the right hand side of the table are, in order, as follows: Ignacio Calderon, Minister of Bolivia; Joaquin Mendez, Minister of Gautemala: Alberto Membreno, Minister of Honduras; Gonzalo S. Cordova, Minister of Ecudor; C. M. de Cespedes, Minister of Cuba; Rafael Zaldivar, Minister of Salvador; Joaquin Cuadra Zavala, Charge d'Affairs of Nicarague, and J. E. Lefevre, Charge d'Affaires of Panama. Unavoidably absent were the Minister of Columbia, Paraguay, Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic. The Ambassador of Mexico has not yet presented his credentials. Further reference to the Pan American Union moy be found upon page 4 of this edition.

McDaniels Meet The Armco Team of Zanesville Sunday At Wehrle Park; Last Game

The last football game of the 1916 season will be played tomorrow afternoon at Wehrle park, when the speedy McDaniels meet the Zanesville Armcos, in what will be the deciding game of the inter city championship series between these two cities.

On Zanesville's first visit to this city several weeks ago, the locals were returned the winners after one of the hardest contests staged on a local gridiron field. Two weeks later the Macs journeyed to Clay Town and another hard game was staged. This ended in a 0-0 score.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Zanesville saw the game and considerable interest was manifest in the series between these two star aggregations. The locals were played to a standstill on their Zanesville trip and lost some of the prestige gained in their first victory.

Tomorrow afternoon, both teams will present their strongest lineups in an effort to cop the deciding game. The McDaniels will have practically the same team, which played the Marion Questions to a 7-7 tie, Thanksgiving afternoon, and local fans are assured of seeing a regular battle. The Armco team will be strengthened in several positions, as its manager is anxious to be returned the winner.

Zanesville is expected to be accompanied here by a large crowd of rooters, anxious to see the deciding contest for the inter city title. The same old reliable supporters of the Macs who made the Zanesville trip, also will be at the park, to pull for their favorites to bring home the final game of the season.

The visitors will arrive about noon and the game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock, thus assuring the fans who accompany the team of getting an early car back to Zanesville. The McDaniels are on edge for the contest as they too want to win the decision and will endeavor to put forth the same class of footballing, which featured their play against Marion.

If the locals can display the form of Thanksgiving, tomorrow, Zanesville is in for a real drubbing, as nothing but the best team in the state could have held the Macs scoreless Thursday afternoon.

Indications point to one of the largest crowds of the season, as the fans realize this will be their last opportunity to see a gridiron game until next fall.

FOOTBALL TAKES TOLL OF SIXTEEN LIVES THIS SEASON

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Football has claimed 16 lives during the 1916 season which closed with Thanksgiving Day games, according to figures compiled by the Associated Press today. Last year the total was 16 and in 1914 there were 15 deaths.

College officials identified with the sport declare that not a single death occurred in any game in which the players were known to be physically as well as mentally trained for the severe test. Not a single life was lost, they point out, in a game where a physician"s examination was demanded before the contestant was permitted to go on the gridiron. In most cases those who lost their lives were members of high school, semi-professional and "prairie" elevens. Only one of the victims was a college player.

Among the dead were: John A. Porter, Athens, O., 18 years old.

William A. Jones, Munhall, Pa., 19 years old.

Harry Wieland, Chicago, aged 19.

Harold B. Watson, Meadville, Pa., 15 years old.

Elmer L. Carlquist, Chicago, 17 years old.

Wallace Rowland, Weirton, W. Va., 15 years old.

Boggs Campbell, Pittsburgh, Pa., 22 years old.

Francis B. Moriarity, Detroit, Mich. 14 years old.

The others killed were members of western teams.

Two of the players suffered broken necks but a majority died from internal injuries.

Coaches assert that practically every danger in the sport has been eliminated by the rules committee and no matter what rules are adopted, the game will continue to be rough, and only those in the best of physical condition should be permitted to play. It is doubtful, they say, if any more changes will be made to lessen risks, as the rules committee believe it has done all in its power to prevent accidents.

"HOPE OF WORLD" SERMON SUBJECT; FIRST OF SERIES.

The first in a series of services leading up to Christmas, will be given Sunday morning, 10:45 o'clock in the Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. Grover L. Diehl. The pastor will preach on "The Hope of the World" as cherished by every race in howsoever crude a form of belief, until the coming of Christ. Special music at all services.

In the evening, 7 o'clock, the pastor will speak on a subject of special interest to all Newark people.

Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; midweek service, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

BREEDERS CLUBS WILL MEET HERE AT POULTRY SHOW

Word has been received by Joseph Evans, Secretary of the Newark Fanciers' Association, from the State officials of the Buff Orpington club of Ohio that they have decided to hold their State meeting in Newark in conjunction with the annual show of the Newark Fanciers' Association, January 2-6 inclusive.

In addition, the Black Minorca club of Ohio will also hold its show in Newark at the same time and this will bring a number of the best breeders in the State with the finest exhibition of Buff Orpingtons and Black Minorcas, two popular and profitable varieties of chickens. Mr. Weisterman, who breeds the minorcas, was instrumental in getting Newark selected as the State meeting place. While we welcome the visiting poultrymen, and want to make their stay pleasant and profitable, we predict that they will have some strong competition on the part of local breeders before the ribbons are taken away from Newark. We will depend upon Peter Anderson of the Maple Valley Orpington yards to show the visitors where Buff Orpingtons are raised as Peter also gets his share of ribbons at the big shows.

An encouraging feature of the coming show is the indorsement and support of the Agricultural Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce. We feel sure that the time has arrived when Newark no longer will trail behind other cities in a real exhibition of fine poultry and other connecting features.

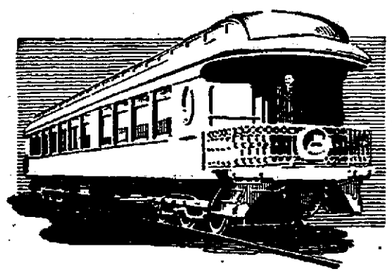

Boys and girls of Newark and Licking county do not wait until after the show to tell how much bigger your plymouth Rock is than Dr. Jackson's, or how much redder your cockeral is than Mr. Billman's, but brush them up now, bring them to the show and we will guarantee them good company. At least we will send your entries home in as good a shape as they came, with a week's feed gratis. If not a blue ribbon.

Overland Automobiles

Which Do You Prefer?

Pullman or Freight?

No one would think of riding in a freight car if he could enjoy the comfort of a big, comfortable easy riding Pullman parlor car.

So with automobiles. Most of the popular priced cars ride like freight cars. This is due to the old fashioned type of spring.

Many manufacturers still continue to use them.

The Overland does not. The 75 B Overland has the latest type of cantilever shock absorbing springs. As a result it is one of the easiest riding cars in the world.

One demonstration will prove this. $635 f. o. b. Toledo.

Pan-American Union.

How many persons know that there is organized and continually hard at work in Washington the greatest official international peace office in the world? How many know that his organization occupies a building at the entrance to Potomac Park, described by the foremost living French architect as "combining beauty and usefulness, for its cost of a million dollars, more than any other public building in the world," which is literally the capitol of the Western Hemisphere in the national Capital of the United States?

How many realize that, in this building, like the Senate or House chambers in the national Capitol at the other end of the hall, is the Congress Hall of the Americans, absolutely unique among the rooms of the world in that it is the only room in the wide world where the highest plenipotentiaries of a large group of nations meet regularly and officially by international agreement on specified days to consider ways and means of preserving the common peace and promoting the mutual prosperity of the American Republics?

How many are aware of the fact that this remarkable international body, known officially as the Governing Board of the Pan-American Union, is composed of the Secretary of State of the United States, who is chairman ex-officio, and the Latin American Ambassadors and Ministers in Washington, so that when it assembles on the first Wednesday of each month twenty-one independent governments and one hundred and eighty millions of peoples are represented in its deliberations? How many, moreover, grasp the fact that this board has been instrumental, directly or indirectly, in preventing six international wars among the nations of the Western Hemisphere during the last ten years and that its moral influence is now a mighty factor in preserving peace between the United States and Mexico?

Were the world generally acquainted with these interesting facts it would not be surprised at the statement made by a distinguished European statesman and publicist to the Director General of the Pan-American Union and former United States Minister to Argentina. Mr. John Barrett, during his recent official visit to England and France for the purpose of ascertaining the British and French viewpoint of the effect of the war on Pan American relations. This European internationalist said:

"I am perfectly sure that, if there had existed prior to the war, in London or Berlin, in Paris or Vienna, a Pan-European Union, organized on the same basis as the Pan-American Union in Washington, there would never have been a European war! Did it exist now, it would be the chief direct agency to bring about and determine peace among the warring nations."

If anyone who might doubt the logic of this statement could have looked into the governing board room of the Pan-American Union building at the last meeting, or could have that privilege at the same hour next Wednesday, December 6, he would have been, or would be, convinced that this opinion had real and not fanciful inspiration. Then he could have seen, or will see, the highest diplomatic representatives of the twenty-one American countries, comprising nearly two hundred million souls, sitting elbow to elbow, with feet under the same table, discussing, in the utmost frankness and freedom, problems and conditions common to all the American republics. Upon another page of today's Advocate appears a picture taken at the Board's first meeting of the winter season. They had just listened to the annual report of Director General Barrett, which demonstrated by facts and figures that the Pan-American Union in its office work had become the chief official international bureau of information and hence of practical peace propaganda in the world. He showed that the last year had been the record one of its achievement, as proved by (1) its vast correspondence and mail that averaged fifteen hundred pieces per day for 300 working days or a total of 445,000 pieces for the year; (2) the publication of 204,000 copies of its monthly Bulletin in English, Spanish, Portuguese and French editions; (3) the distribution of 200,000 other descriptive pamphlets and reports in those four languages; (4) the supplying of regular news bulletins in appropriate languages to twelve hundred English and three hundred Spanish and Portuguese newspapers; (5) the continued development of its library and reading room which now have 35,000 volumes, 18,000 photographs, 1,200 maps, 1,000 newspapers and magazines and 120,000 subject index cards, and (6) the maintenance of buildings and grounds costing one million one hundred thousand dollars and caring for a daily attendance of visitors averaging from five hundred to one thousand.

Long Distance Investments.

Probably there has never been a time when there was so much financial advertising in the big metropolitan newspapers. The stock market pages of many of them are fairly covered with alluring propositions. Papers that circulate among working people and persons of small means often get an enormous quantity of this advertising, perhaps quite as much as papers that appeal particularly to the wealthier classes.

It looks as though a great many people of very slender resources were being tempted into quite doubtful propositions. Of course many of these promotions are no doubt all right. But a great many of them are only partly developed prospects. No man living can tell whether they will be players or not.

Formerly people of small means used generally to put money into savings banks. They were fearful of stocks, and distrusted all forms of paper securities, even the notes and bonds of the solidist corporations. Now a lot of these same people are allured by chances to make a fortune.

A woman who had made a pile of money in a very hazardous mining operation advised all her friends to go into such schemes. "Where would I be if I hadn't?" she said. But most of those who took her advice will lose their pathetic little hoards.

Meanwhile there are always a lot of good properties and mortgages and enterprises near one's home town, in which people who are not satisfied with bank interest can invest. They would not make anybody rich right off, but the money would be there when it was wanted. It's a good safe rule that a venture that promises extraordinary profits also involves extraordinary risks. Otherwise it would quickly be snapped up by the insiders before the general public got a chance at it.

The newspapers are featuring the minister who helped dig the church cellar, but there are a good many congregations that would be dissatisfied because he didn't also put up the building.

The fact that people have been sitting outdoors in cold winds to see foot ball games this fall does not prove that they could go to church if the sexton has the thermometer below seventy.

The fact that a man denounces the food speculators as robbers does not prove that he wouldn't feel flattered at being invited to an automobile ride with one of them.

The American people are suffering so cruelly under the high prices that it is believed some of them will have to reduce the mileage on their mortgaged automobiles.

The contending parties in the eight hour law cases are willing to submit to the decision of the Supreme Courts, provided they consider the decision satisfactory.

After spending hundreds of thousands of dollars, the various investigating committees will reach the perfectly good and wise conclusion that prices are high.

It is a great mistake for the Christmas card dealers to mark them 1916, so that the recipients can't use them over again next year.

It is not true that the Congressional Record has decided to issue a supplement owing to the fact that a congresswoman has been elected.

The craze for wildcat investments is going so fast that the farther distant a proposition is located, the safer people think it is.

Billy Sunday believes that it is all right to use the English language occasionally when there is no slang term available.

The politicians can't complain of high prices, as they eat their own words which do not cost much.

City Manager's Job.

The City Managers' Association, which has just held its annual meeting at Springfield, Mass., is bringing a new type of municipal officer into public view. The idea of placing one man, supposed to be a competent expert, in charge of the entire business operations of a city, seems to be making some progress. At the same time there are certain obstacles in the way of successful realization of the idea that deserve thorough investigation by any community considering this plan.

To carry out the functions of a city manager, a fellow needs a quite varied equipment. He must first be a technical expert. He must know whether he is getting his money's worth of iron pipe and a hundred other materials. He must be able to build highways that will stand wear, to lay sewers that will drain, to provide pure water, to build structures economically.

At the same time he must be a good judge of human nature, a good executive. He must know when his subordinates are "Sojering." He must be able to get harmonious, loyal, energetic labor. He must also be a good financial man. He must be able to straighten out the tangle into which so many systems of municipal bookkeeping are apt to fall.

To combine these accomplishments and native gifts takes an all around man. If they could be united in one personality, he could save almost any city money. But the one great trouble is the baleful influence of politics. A city manager might be turned down by the wrath of factions whose claims for jobs have been ignored. The more efficient he is, probably the less popular he will be.

Under these circumstances a good many of the managers will be tempted to play politics. They wil ltie up with one bunch of men to prevent themselves from being rooted out by another. It is no bed of roses. A man who can command all these resources and all the needed diplomacy can probably earn more in private employment than most cities will pay him. There will be a few towns, however, far seeing enough to recognize and requite such services at their real value.

Buy Early Movement.

The effort to persuade people to buy early their Christmas and holiday purchases has been fairly influential in the larger cities. When one can see personally the strain under which store clerks, mail and express employes live and work for the week before Christmas, this annual scrimmage looks like something both preposterous and cruel.

People living outside the cities however do not quite realize this. In their immediate neighborhood the Christmas season makes no great difference in the lives of the working people. The stores do not have any terrible rush and people work along about as usual.

People who send away Christmas gifts from such localities however should realize that the Christmas rush is no joke in the centers of distribution and in the post office and express business. It is a mountain of work piled in a heap on a certain group of people, when it might just as well be distributed over a longer period. So people should begin now to think up their Christmas purchases and get them off as early as they can, marking them if desired, "Not to be opened until Christmas."

The Cost in Ohio.

(New York Evening Post.)

It is disappointing to be caught buying or having bought an election, but it is downright humiliating to spend, legitimately or otherwise, several times as much as the opposition, and then lose by a substantial margin. This is what the Republicans seem to have done in ungrateful Ohio. They themselves do not know how much they threw into the fire, for it is not all reported at one place, but the reports filed by the respective state chairmen show the Republican committee to have expended over six times as much as the Democratic committee. The $372,000 so reported does not include, for instance, the great Hughes rally at Columbus on the eve of the election, for which the Republican county committee spent $2600 and local organizations and individuals paid the cost of sending delegations and bands from all over the state. And of course it does not include county expenditures in general. In Franklin county, the committee spent $17,000 and managed to elect just one of 20 candidates. In this case, the Democrats were not far behind, spending only $1500 less. But they elected 19 candidates! It may be necessary to put a curb upon the amount of money contributed by one person or spent by one committee, but it is gratifying to discover anew that the relative proportion of campaign funds bear no necessary relation to the proportions of majority and minority votes.

The Proposed Embargo.

(Philadelphia Record.)

The President is perfectly right in opposing Congressman Fitzgerald's project of an embargo on food. The time for that has certainly not come yet. It is extremely doubtful whether any combination of circumstances would justify it. Legislative interference with commercial forces almost invariably miscarries, and does more harm than good.

There has been a good deal of speculation in food. An embargo would not remedy this. Legislation adverse to the interests of the farmers, and for the ostensible benefit of the people in the towns, would be very difficult to defend as a matter of equality, and, considered politically, it would be suicidal.

The wheat crop is short, but it is nearly, if not quite, equal to the domestic requirements, and there can hardly be less than 180,000,000 bushels of old wheat brought over from years of bumper crops. The exports of food are just now increasing, but for 10 months they have been materially less than last year. In a few weeks Argentine wheat will be on the market. The bulls are circulating reports of a bad harvest to come, and it may be that the weather is unfavorable. But there will be considerable surplus for export, and one cargo of wheat has already reached the United States and other cargoes are on the way. We infer therefrom that the wheat prospects of Argentina are not very bad. About the time of the Argentine harvest there will be harvesting in Australia, and a little later the Indian crop will come on.

The Food Commissioner of New York has been an alarmist on food supplies, but he observes that the supply to potatoes is increasing and the price is weakening. The price of eggs is due largely to the fact that at this season the hens lack industry, but they will be doing better in a few weeks, and to the further fact that vast amounts of eggs are cornered in cold storage. As prices rise people buy less of the more expensive sorts of food, and as they buy less the prices weaken. There is no occasion at present for trying to upset the natural laws of trade and exciting the animosity of the farmers when they happen to have a very good thing.

The price of wheat has been stimulated by heavy purchases by speculators. A few days ago these came to the conclusion that the time to sell had arrived, and large operators in Chicago unloaded some of their wheat and the price dropped at once nearly 10 cents. There may be some more heavy selling. It is too soon to get excited.

Cost of Paper.

(New York Herald.)

The pinch of paper cost has forced action on the part of all afternoon newspapers published in Pittsburgh. They made announcement yesterday that, beginning on Friday, December 1, the sale price of each will be two cents instead of one cent, as heretofore. In giving notice of the increase of price the reason is frankly stated as being "the great increase in the cost of paper and of practically all other materials entering into the production and distribution of a daily newspaper." The news print situation that has resulted in this change is not local to Pittsburgh. In other cities similar increases in selling price have been announced and doubtless will come. Speaking generally, conditions in the newspaper world are rapidly approaching those that obtained in this country during the last two years of the civil war, when newspapers here in New York that had been selling at two cents advanced to three, four and five cents. At that time the situation in the United States was much like that now obtaining in England, where the newspaper problem seems to be one of "the survival of the fittest."

The War.

(Ohio State Journal.)

The war keeps on as ferocious as ever and there is no telling when it will quit. The west side of it is in statu quo. It is an illustration of that terrible situation where an irresistible force meets an invincible body and from all appearances it is to remain so until the crack of doom. In the east the situation is different. There the German forces are defeating the Russians and Rumanians, and the indications are dark for Rumania. With the scales even hung in the west, and hanging low in the east, the end of the war is farther off than it has been for months. No signs of an end of it this winter. In the meantime the usual talk of peace continues, but the big nations involved in the conflict are taking no part in it. Civilization shrieks as the battles go on.

Spirit of the Press

The Egg Market.

In the proposal to stamp all storage eggs with the letter P, for packed, or else S, for storage, is found a practical solution of the cornering of this staple of food of the table of the people. If the government should extend its pure food law to be protecting the people from the purchase of eggs that are in fact packed eggs. As an egg carries few indications of its age to the purchaser, the deception here is particularly vicious. Hence the necessity for legislative action so as to enable the people to know when they are buying fresh eggs, just as oleomargerine has to be stamped so the people can know when they are buying butter. Incidentally, the additional handling to stamp eggs would add an item of cost to discourage the cornerer. By this simple expedient the egg-cornering would become a thing of the past.—Baltimore American.

His Unique Proposal.

He was a morbid youth and a nervous lover. Often had he wished to tell the maiden how he longed to make her all his own. Again and again had his nerve failed him. But tonight there was a "do-or-die" look in his eye. They started for their usual walk, and rested awhile upon his favorite seat—a gravestone in the village churchyard. A happy inspiration seized him. "Maria," he said in trembling accents—Maria! When you die—how should you like to be buried here with my name on the stone over you?"—London Opinion.

Not a Betting Man.

G. O. P.'s Largest Contributor.

The announcement that Harry Payne Whitney, who gave $30,000, was the largest single contributor to the Republican national campaign fund, will remind people that Mr. Whitney's father, the late William C. Whitney, was a member of President Cleveland's Cabinet and a power in the Democratic party of his time. But political views are not hereditary, according to present belief of the evolutionists, and anyway the Democratic parties of 1884 and 1916 are somewhat different.—Springfield Republican.

That raffia is a strong fiber obtained from the Jupati palm of South America? It is woven by the natives into cloths from which almost all their clothing is made. It is used largely in the United States for basketry and, in nurseries and greenhouses, for tying up plants. It is also woven into matting for decorative purposes.

Limerick Contest.

To Dorothy Nelle Dewey goes the dollar for this week;
An audience for her Limerick, we hereby do bespeak:—

She determined to have a thin waist,
So each day to the gym madly raced;
Took steam baths, then rolled,
Drank lemon juice cold;
Thus, she thinned herself down in great haste.
DOROTHY NELLE DEWEY,
233 Hudson avenue.

The other ones of merit, we have set down in a row
You'll find, if you will kindly look, a list of them below:—

She determined to have a slim waist,
For she thought such appearance most chaste:
She rolled on the floor,
Did fool stunts galore,
Till her parents felt almost disgraced.
—D. D. H.

She determined to have a slim waist.
And "thirty miles per" her horse paced;
She rode the beast straddle
Without any saddle.
——Help, Mr. Editor, please finish!
—B. C.
And he got thin, too, the poor baste!

She determined to have a slim waist.
She ran to the doctor in haste;
He gave her some pills;
So, to ease all her ills,
She swallowed four gallons of paste.
I Winnit, Croton, Ohio.

She determined to have a slim waist,
Even though such was not in good taste;
So she pulled in her stays.
But her figure—it sways—
And she loosened them up in great haste.
Mrs. L. S. Newkirk.

Oh, Waste.

She determined to have a slim waist,
She'd do anything, she said in haste.
She would lace, take a drug.
Clean the old parlor rug,
And no sugar or starches she'd taste.
Betty Wantsit.

She determined to have a slim waist,
To the corsetiere quickly made haste.
Who said, "You must diet;
Let all sweet things go riot;
Then your 'Nemo' can tighter be laced."
Mrs. J. K. Dewey.

She determined to have a slim waist,
So her meals she consumed in great haste;
Now she looks like a fiddle,
Quite small at the middle;
Her figure exhibits bad taste.
A. B. M., Black Run.

She determined to have a slim waist,
But her chances were ruined thru haste.
For her bust grew so large
She resembled a barge,
With her diaphragm badly displaced.
A. Corn.

She determined to have a slim waist,
As she wished to look sylph-like and chaste;
She decided to diet,
No overwork—keep quiet,
Not using too much undue haste
E. H. B.

She determined to have a slim waist,
For she was said to dress with good taste;
So she bought a "Nemo,"
And wore it to the show,
And every one said she was laced.
Mrs. G. B. L.

She determined to have a slim waist,
Into a whale-boned lacer did haste,
Laced it by the bed post,
And grew pale as a ghost,
Now in her dresses she darts has to baste
Miss O. Baker.

Saturday morning's mail brought a large number of slim waist limericks, too late for consideration, as the contest as usual closed at 6 p. m., Friday. Here are some of the best offerings that, alas, came too late:

She determined to have a slim waist,
So tighter and tighter she laced;
She went to the gym
To make herself thin,
And she swam and she leaped and she raced.
W. A. C.

She determined to have a slim waist,
So to buy her a corset, made haste;
She drew it up tight,
Till she looked like a fright,
And then declared she was not laced.
Esther Beever, Utica, R. D. 2.

She determined to have a slim waist,
To be up with latest fashion and taste.
So she began to diet and fast,
Until now, she is one of the past;
The poor girl was in too great haste.
Mrs. Mary E. Fitch.

She determined to have a slim waist,
Pulled and sweat; her stays tightly she laced.
The eyelets rusted,
The darn string busted,
The poor cornfed now feels much disgraced.
Willie Winn?

She determined to have a slim waist,
So she bought her a corset in haste.
With all her might,
She drew it up tight,
Then said, "Indeed, I'm not laced."
Cretia Beever, R. D. Utica.

If that dollar I should win,
From ear to ear, I'll grin a grin.
C. B.

She determined to have a slim waist,
For a handsome young fellow she chaist;
She met him on Monday,
And left him next Sunday,
And of all this time she went laist.
Polly A. Pryor.

Dear Melting Pot:
"Either Mr. Gotmine
Or I ought to shine
This week, since we're on good terms.
If between us we fail
That dollar to nail
We'll go out in the yard and eat worms."

She determined to have a slim waist,
To the corsetiere's she ran in great haste;
But when she got there,
She groaned in dispair,
For she remembered the words "Haste Makes Waste."
Willie Gettit?

Next Week's Contest.

The holiday season is at hand and everybody is deciding to "buy it early" this year. It is therefore appropriate to construct next week's limericks with Christmas gifts in mind. The Pot gives the first line and puts up to the reader the pleasant task of supplying the next four. A dollar goes to the winner. Send all contributions before 6 p. m. Friday, Dec. 8. Remember please that many came too late this week and none received after 6 p. m. Dec. 8 will be considered by the editor in making the award.

EX-CONVICT STABS WOMAN TO DEATH; CUT OWN THROAT

Dayton, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Ethel Mullen, 922 East Fifth street, died early today of stab wounds made with a butcher knife in the hands of Albert Foutz, ex-Ohio penitentiary convict. Foutz tried to cut his throat when the woman died, but was unsuccessful. He is being closely guarded at the hospital. No cause is assigned for the crime, which was committed last Tuesday, but not reported by the physician in attendance to the police. Foutz served time at Columbus for a series of robberies in Xenia.

Society

The Jolly Stitchers club was delightfully entertained on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard A. Jones in Oakwood avenue. After the business meeting the hours were spent in needle work and a contest was held which resulted in Mrs. Archie Scandlin receiving the prize. At four o'clock a two course dinner was served. The dining room was very prettily arranged in the club colors, pink and white, the center piece for the table being a basket of pink and white roses.

Those present were: Mesdames Edgar B. Swern, John W. Ulmer, Clarence Hill, Arthur Pelton, Earl Swern, H. J. Hayes, Harry Inscho, Miss Frances Swern and one guest, Mrs. Archie Scandlin and hostess.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hill in East Main street on Wednesday evening, December 13. The husbands and friends of the members are invited to this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Meier of West Main street are in Cleveland attending the marriage of their niece, Miss Olive Crooks, 2105 East 40th street to Mr. Arnold Johnston. The marriage ceremony was performed in the vestry of the German Lutheran church, corner 30th and Prospect, by the Rev. Theodore Schenertle at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Nov. 25th. The immediate families only attending.

Its tonic properties build up the strength of the physically weak and run down, and its use in convalescence, especially after grip, is remarkably beneficial.

What Ohio Club Women Are Doing

Mrs. Prentice E. Rood, Director of Press.

The purely self-culture club is fast becoming obsolete, a matter of much congratulation to the progress and improvement of club life. No one truly can deny the fact that the old-time program of study was a part of the development which has led to the wonderful achievements of the modern club.

When a club boasts of its conservatism it sounds its own death knell, for conservatism is only another word expressing selfishness. Like the individual, the organization must serve its community or fail to reach its highest purpose.

Library Project.

The Advance club of Dayton has assumed the very commendable task of securing a splendid library for the Marysville reformatory. Mrs. Mittendorf has been for years a member of this club and is now a contributing honorary member, and a recent interview disclosed the need of reading matter at the institution.

Each federated club in the state will be asked to contribute some specific book or magazine, or its equivolent in money, the whole to be in the nature of a book shower for December 15. The club desires not to appear dictatorial in thus specifying the book or periodical, but it seemed the simplest way to avoid duplications, and the collection of unsuitable books. Each club will receive a letter with the details of the plan, and it is hoped that each will be glad to give its small share.

Child Labor.

With the passing of the Kent-Owen bill the greatest handicap to the control of child labor has been removed and the worst conditions affecting 150,000 boys and girls can be remedied. Constructive work can now be done to safeguard the two million child workers not reached by the new law.

Conservation.

Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman of Chicago has been retained as chairman of conservation in the general federation. Our own chairman of conservation, Mrs. A. V. Bauman, is sub-chairman of the Lincoln Highway committee.

Segregation of the Feeble-Minded.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's Club League of Youngstown plans were formulated to launch a campaign for the segregation of the feeble minded. No more vital project has ever presented itself to the attention of clubwomen and any plan working toward a betterment of present lax conditions should receive the hearty support of all Ohio.

Personals.

At the Ohio state conference of Charities and Correction held at Youngstown, Nov. 14-17, Mrs. J. L. Selby of Greenville, recording secretary of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, and Dr. Josephine Peirce, chairman of the public health commitee, spoke at a combined meeting of fourteen clubs of Ada, on Thursday, Nov. 23.

On Monday, Nov. 27, Mrs. Roby was the guest of the Victorian club of Mansfield, and on December 15th will address the city federation of Norwalk, on district work and city federation activities.

Granville

(Special to the Advocate.)

Granville, December 2.—Equal suffrage in Granville while supported by the voters, has never been taken seriously by the women until recently, and the meeting of the Licking County Equal Suffrage Association which was held here yesterday afternoon was a distinct step forward. Mrs. Clara M. Ogden opened "Oakdean," her new home in East Broadway for the accommodation of the organization and about thirty Newark and Granville women responded to the invitation finding both enjoyment and inspiration in the program presented. Mrs. E. Jeannette Moore presided and Mrs. Charles McGruder acted as secretary. Interesting accounts of the convention held in Indianapolis last week were given by the delegates. Mrs. C. A. Swisher of Millersport, and Miss Grace Williams of Newark, Miss Williams referred to the commendation bestowed upon Granville, Ohio, in one of the meetings, for its attitude toward woman suffrage. In the discussion which followed, Mrs. Nettie Hutchings and Mrs. E. S. Randolph of Newark, Mrs. Howard Howe and Mrs. E. D. Barnes of Granville were heard, the latter offering her home for the meeting of the association at any time, an invitation which was accepted for the second Friday in January. It was decided to make this meeting in part, a memorial to the late Mrs. Inez Millholland Boissevain, whom Mrs. Barnes spoke of most feelingly as one whom "New York women had almost wroshipped." A cardial vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Ogden for the use of her lovely house, and she expressed great regret that it was not yet in a condition for serving tea as she had hoped to do.

Miss Florence Beckel of Newark, formerly of Granville, and her sister, Mrs. Graham Beckel, of Washington C. H., were in Granville yesterday and attended the suffrage meeting.

Mr. Frank Tallmadge of Columbus who is a member of the Bryn Du house party, and who for years has been one of the pillars of the Columbus Riding club, made the journey to Granville Thursday on horseback, via Jersey and the country roads. He is riding a four year old bay beauty, "Fantana," of whose accomplishments he takes great pride. Mr. J. S. Jones' "Colonel," the prize winner, is a half brother to "Fantana," both animals of the royal family of "Bourbon Chief."

Mrs. Harriett Baker received a message Thanksgiving morning of the death of her oldest brother, Harrison Ashton, of Springfield, Ill. Mr. Ashton was born in Granville township in 1832 and was the oldest son of the late Joseph and Harriett Ashton. When a young man he went west with a family by the name of Boardman, settling near Springfield, Ill., at which place he has made his home for many years, following the occupation of farming and stock buying. Of his immediate family who survive him are two sons, Messrs. Roy and Fred Ashton, Mrs. F. R. Coons and Miss Ina Ashton of the home; a brother, Mr. Henry Ashton of Newark, Mr. Friel Ashton and Mrs. Haynes of Granville.

Chi Psi Delta entertained Friday evening in their beautiful chapter house the following: Miss Lily Bell Sefton, chaperone; Miss Virginia Bowyer, Springfield, Ill.; Messrs. Mark B. Smith, Kenneth M. Chafee, Howard W. Earnshaw, Fischer N. Davis, Darman E. Richardson, Nelson G. Rupp, Stuart L. Lapp, John W. Hundley, Herschel H. Bowyer, Almonte C. Howell, Russell A. Currin, Benjamin F. Kniffin, Thomas A. Cook, Leslie H. Winans, Frank W. Edwards.

The funeral of Mr. Jacob G. Frederick, aged 80 years, who died Friday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Weiser in Newark, will be held at the Frederick home, one mile north of Granville Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Interment in Welsh Hills cemetery.

At the Methodist church tomorrow, the morning service will be in charge of the Women's Home Missionary society and the Queen Esther circle will render the reading and service of song. Topic of the morning sermon: "The Man Who Spoiled the Music"; topic of the evening, "The Start." In the evening the pastor will begin a series of illustrated sermons on Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. The public is invited.

Regular services will be held in the Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Barnes. Miss Rockwood's program of sacred music preceding the evening service has become a regular feature of this service. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

St. Luke's church, Sunday, Dec. 3. The first Sunday in Advent. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 10 a. m., by the rector, Rev. David Barre.

At the First Baptist church the pastor, Rev. Millard Breisford, will preach both morning and evening. At 11:15 a. m. the Bible school; at 3:45 p. m., The Christian Workers' B. Y. P. U. An invitation to any of these services is extended to all.

Owing to the lateness of the Christmas vacation this year, the Shepardson Y. W. C. A. has planned a bazaar to be held in Doane gymnasium on December 16th, so that students may do their shopping before leaving for home.

The Denisonian has received an autographed copy of the book "Auto-Hemic Therapy" from its author Dr. L. D. Rogers, Denison '82, whose new blood treatment has caused a sensation in medical circles. The work will be kept on file at the editorial rooms and will be open to any who are interested.

The annual football banquet will be given on the evening of December 5 under the supervision of the D. U. sophomore class. One of the features of this occasion will be the announcement of the captain-elect for next year. This year's squad decides this matter and announces it at the banquet.

Forearmed.

"Now, Willis," announced mother, "tonight we are going to entertain several of the Y. M. C. A. secretaries at dinner, and unless you can behave better than usual you will have to eat with Mary in the kitchen."

"I'll behave," asserted Willis, hastily. Mary's company was little to his liking.

The dinner progressed favorably. Willis lost his young heart to the genial guests and got along fine, with only an occasional error. But while waiting for dessert his gaze unfortunately wandered around the table. Every man, from his father down, had one or both elbows planted firmly on the cloth, while they listened to a friendly argument on ways and means.

"Elbows off!" shouted Willis in a happy consciousness of virtue (for once.) "We caught 'em that time, didn't we, mother?"—The Christian Herald.

WHAT TO GIVE MOTHER

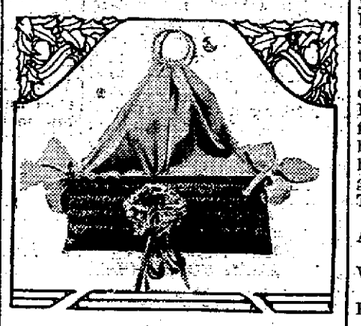

As the holiday season approaches the shops are filled with women who consult their long shopping lists with a worried, anxious expression that is peculiar to Christmastide.

Here are a few suggestions for housekeeping mothers: Table gongs on a wooden stand resembling a belfry, from $2.50 upward; pencil racks in brass to hold six pencils; thimbles, emeries, darning balls and other workbox details cost almost anything one cares to pay, and most women will appreciate a leather workbox which is pretty enough to stand on a table. Pillow cover, embroidered linen doilies, table linen, kitchen cabinet, laundry bag, china closet, odd dishes, embroidered linen laundry calendar, embroidered linen waist pattern, dress pattern, glove order, silver tea service, rug, liberty silk neck ruff, silver tea strainer, picture, bedroom slippers, evening wrap, kimonos.

Illustrated is a dressy little bag made of gray moire taffeta, closed with a drawstring and prettily beaded.

Give mother a soft chiffon ruching of violet or white for her neck. This will give a dressy touch to her simplest evening toilet.

Or give her a pretty and inexpensive writing desk, where she can keep her household accounts and write those oft called for notes of excuse to teacher.

Many sorts of dainty sweet grass baskets in odd shapes are fragrant mementos. The one pictured is arranged with old rose satin as a knitting basket.

Candlesticks of colonial design in brass or crystal are very artistic, useful and not at all expensive. They are to be had in various sizes and in the most popular size are about $1.25 each.

Beautiful art objects for mother's own room or her parlor make precious gifts. Dainty vases, bits of cloisonne, a favorite picture and a magazine rack are suggestions. The miniature illustrated is charmingly framed with tiny brilliants, a gift one might range all the way from a belle to the baby.

Guest room towels make acceptable gifts. The newer ones have a crocheted edge with a strip of insertion to match. These towels are embroidered in simple outline, stem or cross stitch, using one or more colors of the silk. Bath towels are always acceptable, and one of each, terry and huckaback, may be folded and tied with ribbon for a gift. An entire bathroom set in terry would be a boon to a busy housekeeper. Such a set includes a regular sized bath towel, one smaller, a bath mat, wash rag and a laundry bag.

Some girls are belles and some are knockers.

Obituary

Minerva Lucretia Burrell.

Minerva Lucretia Burrell, daughter of John and Martha Burrell was born Feb. 28, 1866 and departed this life, Nov. 25, 1916, aged 50 years, 9 months and 7 days. She was united in marriage to Frank W. Wilkin, Aug. 28, 1889 and for more than 27 years they have been happy in each others love and shared life's responsibilities. Today the home is broken and the good wife and mother has gone to that home where death has no power to separate from those we love. Her home life was beautiful in its simplicity and hospitality and all those who entered its domain were made welcome.

She united with the Church of Christ at Rocky Fork about thirty years ago and later moved her membership to the Eden church where she remained a faithful member until her death. She leaves to mourn their loss a husband and four children, Mrs. Clarence Smith and John, Lola and Darlene of the home; a father, six brothers, three sisters, a host of other relatives and friends; her mother and one sister having gone on before.

The Saviour needed another angel,
Among his shining band;
And so he came and claimed her,
For the bright and better land.
We see her kind and loving face
Around our home no more!
But we shall hope and trust to meet her,
Over on the other shore.

Haiti's Sans Souci.

The palace of Sans Souci, erected by Christophe, the black leader of Haiti, is situated in the hills above the level vale of Milot, with a background of forest and a foreground sprinkled with the palms and huts of simple cultivators. Dilapidated ruins and a tangle of tropical trees are the rueful remnants of the glory that was once the palace without care and the garden of delight of the king of slaves.

It was off the coast of Haiti, near the site of this palace, that the flagship of Columbus was wrecked, and here he left most of his men when he returned to Spain for aid. Upon his return to the settlement, which he called "La Navidad," he found the whole party dead, including an Englishman named Allard and an Irishman, who was entered on the Santa Maria's books as William of Galway.—National Geographic Magazine.

SCROFULA AND ALL HUMORS GIVE WAY

There are many things learned from experience and observation that the older generation should impress upon the younger. Among them is the fact that scrofula and other humors, which produce eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptions, can be most successfully treated with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

This great medicine is a peculiar combination of remarkably effective blood-purifying and health-giving roots, barks and herbs, which are gathered especially for it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has stood the test for forty years.

Miss Redfeather was reared in Oklahoma and was fortunate enough to attract the attention of a philanthropist who provided for her education. Milady's Boudoir

If you are beautiful, be glad that you are so richly blessed. If you are just a plain gray mouse, you can do much to add to your personal attraveness and magnetism, for many a plain woman is beautiful if she cultivates certain little characteristics that everyone should possess.

First she must learn to dress herself attractively. No one can deny the singular fact that nearly everything fashionable is pleasing; hence the necessity of a woman keeping up with the modes, not only for street wear but also for home use.

In order not to be plain one does not need to dress elaborately. First study the mode of arranging your hair and select that which is not only smart, but the one most becoming to you. Do not in the hustle and bustle to begin the day's work think that the quickest arranged coiffure will suffice. Neither be misled by the thought that a tight, closely arranged coiffure is suitable to all faces; in fact there are but few faces that will not lose their beauty by such a coiffure.

Of all times of the day the morning is the one time when the coiffure should be neatly arranged or concealed by a becoming breakfast cap. The coiffure is more easily arranged if the hair is slightly waved; the wave may be produced by doing the hair up at night on curlers of some kind. Neatness is always a virtue, but the plain woman is not as attractive when dishevelled as the naturally beautiful woman.

Everyday Etiquette

"How soon after the ceremony should I send out announcements or should I wait until I come home from my wedding trip?" asked Jane.

"Announcements should be sent out on the day of the wedding so that they will be received the following day or at any rate within a day or so," advised her aunt.

The Essence of Good Sense.

Very strong peppermints are grandpa's favorite confection. One day he gave one to four-year-old Marjorie and waited slyly to see what she would say or do when she should discover the pungent flavor of the candy. A few minutes later he saw her take the partly eaten peppermint from her mouth and place it on a small table beside an open window. "What's the matter?" he asked. "Don't you like the candy?" "Oh, yes," replied Marjorie, "I like it, but I thought I'd let it cool for a little while."—The Christian Herald.

A woman can never make a man believe that she is a man, but she can make him think she is not a woman.

Weekly Financial Review.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Dec. 2.—The outstanding event of an active week interrupted by a holiday was the disapproval expressed by the federal reserve board of the proposed Anglo-French short term note issue and the withdrawal of the offering by the principals out of regard for the attitude of that body.

Another interesting development was the rise in call money to 6½ per cent, the highest rate of the year and a logical result of the recent steady depletion of local bank reserves. Accompanying this advance was a general hardening of time accomodations, but an inrush of interior reserves attracted by the better terms offered here is expected to restore recent monetary ease.

In the stock market operations were on a somewhat reduced basis, daily transactions being nearer one million than the recent two million day sessions. This falling off was welcomed by conservative traders no less than by financial interests.

The feature of the trading was the increased demand for low priced rails, including the shares of many companies whose financial difficulties for years past have been a matter of common knowledge. Buying of these issues was reported to have much of its origin in the belief that they ought to share proportionately in any advance of freight rates.

Industrials, munitions, equipments and coppers were more or less irregular, not as a result of trade conditions so much as of their technical position. There still exists a large and somewhat tenuous bull account in shares of these groups which makes them susceptible to pressure.

Rails of the better class, notably those on an assured dividend basis, were in better demand, although earnings continued to show larger amounts applied to operating expenses. Shares of the coal roads reflected the strength of the inquiry for that commodity.

Weekly Grain Review.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Dec 2—Big breaks in the value of wheat, 11¾ to 12¾ a bushel, took place in the last week owing largely to peace talk and to a nearly general grain embargo east of Chicago that was associated with a severe falling off in export buying, and with a sharp advance in marine war risk rates. Other price losses for the week were: Corn, 5¾ to 6⅝; oats, 5 to 5⅛; provisions, 25 to 85@87½.

Wall Street.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Dec 2.—The recent inquiry for low priced rails was resumed on a broader scale at today's opening with activity most marked in coalers, Rock Island, Kansas City Southern, Southern Railway and Western Maryland, the latter rising considerably over a point. Utilities also were in further speculative favor, Ohio gas rising to the new record of 119 with a new maximum of 51 for Columbia Gas and a material advance in Montana power. Included among the strong industrials and specialties were Colorado Fuel, International Paper, Central Leather, Beet Sugar, U. S. Rubber and shipping issues. Coppers and motors also registered variable gains in the later dealings.

Minor rails and specialties and the utilities group fegtured today's short, but active session with further accumulation of Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and Wabsal. issues at gains of one to two points and as much more for Western Maryland and some less prominent shares. Ohio gas made an extreme gain of 6¼ points to 124, representing an advance of over 25 points for the week and a new record was scored by Columbia Gas. Pittsburgh Coal common and pfd. and Utah securities Coppers rose briskly in the later dealings under lead of Utah and Chile and substantial advances were made by the leather group, sugars, papers and shipping issues. United States Steel and Associated Stocks reacted slightly on moderate pressure. The closing was strong. Total sales were estimated at 725,000 shares. Bonds were firm.

Chicago Grain.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Rumors that the Hudson Bay company was trying to cancel the purchase of several million bushels of wheat intended for Great Britain led today to a sharp break in prices here. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 2¼ lower, with December at 1.65¾ to 1.66 and May at 1.73½ to 1.74, was followed by a decided setback all around.

The close was nervous, ⅝ to 1 net lower with December at 1.66 and May at 1.73 to 1.73¼.

Corn appeared to be without friends. After opening ⅞ down to ⅝ advance the market underwent a general sag.

The close was unsettled, ⅛ off to ¼ up, as compared with yesterday's finish.

Oats gave way with wheat and corn. Cash houses were conspicuous on the selling side.

In provisions, buying on Belgian relief orders gave only transient strength to the market. Weakness of grain soon acted as an offset.

The Courts

Application Refused.

Judge Robbins Hunter Friday gave his decision in the propounding of the will of the late Mary E. Mount of Alexandria, O. The case was hotly contested in the probate court, Flory & Flory appearing for the applicant and Stasel & Cornell, contra. The decision denies the application to probate the will. On January 26, 1916, Mrs. Mount conveyed her property away without consideration and later the probate court found her to be an imbecile and appointed a guardian. On August 28, 1916, Mrs. Mount demanded a will which she had placed with C. B. Buxton, and when it was given her she destroyed it by tearing it to pieces. After her death, Hill Mount, a grandson, attempted to have the destroyed will probated. Mrs. Mount's property having been devised to him by that instrument. He attempted to establish the claim that being an imbecile she did not have the mental capacity to make a valid revocation. Judge Hunter in his opinion finds that as a legal proposition, that the facts of imbecility and guardianship would not necessarily operate as a bar to Mrs. Mount's revoking her will.

Married by Justice.

Justice Fletcher S. Scott officiated at the marriage Friday afternoon of Frank Houston and Miss Lula Gordon, of Utica, O. The nuptual knot was tied by the good justice in his usual graceful manner and at the conclusion of the ceremony he wished the newly weds much joy and happiness. The bridegroom is a cement worker and they will reside in that thriving village.

NEWARK OFFICIALS PINNED UNDER CAR ESCAPED UNINJURED

Service Director, W. C Christian and Taylor Kussmaul, an employe of the service department, early last night suffered a number of painful bruises, when the automobile in which they were returning from Dayton, turned over in a ditch near Columbia Center.

Both men were temporarily pinned under the machine but fortunately they escaped being struck by the car when it struck the ground. Mr. Kussmaul was driving the machine.

The accident, which occured about 7.00 o'clock last evening was due to the lights from another machine blinding Mr. Kussmaul to the extent that he was unable to see a ditch at the side of the road. The lights on the Ford runabout driven by Mr. Kussmaul burned out and the men stopped the machine near the railroad tracks, one mile west of Columbia Center. The small lights on the side of the car were lighted and the trip resumed.

They had proceeded only a short distance when an approaching automobile with dazzling headlights blinded Mr. Kussmaul. The Newark man put on the brakes upon he became blinded and brought the machine to a stop, but it was too close to the edge of the ditch, and fell over.

The automobile which caused the accident stopped and its driver, together with several other drivers from passing machines, helped to remove the Newark men from under the car and put the automobile back on the road.

Principle is an inner command over the outside forms of life.

The hillsides of the Malabar coast of India are the scene of great commercial activity once a year, when the lemon grass harvest is under way. Six months later the fresh crop is ready to be cut, and at once the countryside is dotted with furnaces and stills.

THE AUDITORIUM.
The Sins of Her Parents.

The last showings of that wonderful Fox picture "The Sins of Her Parent" with Gladys Brockwell, William Clifford, Carl Von Schiller, George Webb, Herschel Mayall, Jim Farley and others will be seen at the Auditorium today. This picture is a good one.

The first work was done at the Fox studios near Los Angeles; then the company, sixty-one strong, boarded a special train for Sacramento. Not content with that trip, they journeyed from the capital city to San Francisco, where several more scenes for the photoplay were snapped.

Eighteen stage carpenters alone were used in Sacramento, to erect the various sets used there. They were part of the company which took the trip from Los Angeles, and they were accompanied by the director and his assistant, the camera man, William C. Foster, and the principles in the cast, Gladys Brockwell, William Clifford, Carl Von Schiller, George Webb, Herschel Mayall, and Jim Farley.

This feature together with Pathe Weekly No. 93, containing events culled from the entire world, also its funny cartoon section, also the picture taken here by the McHenry Corporation, and one all school children should see as it has a story that would interest all the younger ones as well as grownups. "Twas Schooldays" with its local atmosphere, the youngsters of the Central and High schools, also the grown-ups who took part in it, should appeal to all and if you havent seen it, be sure and see the closing performances at the Auditorium today. Tomorrow Clara Kimball Young in "The Common Law" will be screened.

Sunday Program.

Sunday at the Auditorium, Manager Fenberg will bring back for one day Clara Kimball Young in "The Common Law" the greatest talked of feature ever produced.

When seen here a short time ago, capacity business ruled and at the request of many who were unable to see it, Manager Fenberg has arranged at great expense to show it here tomorrow. The showings will start at 4:30 in the afternoon, the second showing at 6:30 and the last at 8:30 p. m.

Auditorium Sunday.

The Elks use the theater for their memorial services in the afternoon and the pictures will begin immediately after their services which will be 4:30 p. m. The price for this engagement are the usual Auditorium prices, children 5 cents, adults ten cents.

Big Advance Sale.

Manager Fenberg announces that if the present advance sale for seats for Monday afternoon keeps up, the theater will play to capacity with ladies as the audience. The sale is one of the largest so far for wheel shows and when "The High Life Girls" with Warren Lincoln Travis, America's representative athlete as an extrat attraction, open Monday, Newark show goers will see one of the best shows of the season. The company numbers 35 people, a car load of scenery and effects. The cast includes such well known stars as Tony Kennedy, Ted Evans, Harry Mathews, George Collington, aMichelin Pennetti, etc. The costumes are of the latest pattern and the musical numbers are all new and of the catchy, whistling variety.

BEATRICE HARLOWE
"High Life Girls," at the Auditorium Monday.

There are many clever novelties connected with this show, one being the wonderful impersonation of Miss Pennetti, who is styled the Anna Held of wheel shows. Her gowns are sure to catch the eyes of the feminine sex. Miss Pennetti, being the star of this company, too much praise cannot be said of her and her work, as she is one of the most popular leading women in her line of work today. As is usual for Monday afternoon, ladies will secure the best reserved seats down stairs for twenty-five cents. The seats are on sale at the box office and if you wish choice seats, we would advise getting them at once.

Mae La Porte Co.

The seats for the Dainty Mae La Porte engagement, go on sale today and from reports from the Auditorium management Tuesday evening next should hold a capacity house to see this clever young lady, whose company opens a five day engagement at that theater. The opening play selected for Tuesday evening is Mark Swan's four act drama "The Lady from Laramie." Full of comedy, striking climax's, pathos, etc. The company will during the week produce numerous late New York successes, all being put on in first class style with special scenery, effects, etc. Miss La Porte has a very clever company this year, many of the artists being actors and actresses who have played at one time or other upon the vaudeville stage and they will offer between acts, vaudeville numbers that are sure to please all. Daily matinees will be given every afternoon starting Wednesday. On Tuesday evening, the ladies will be admitted for fifteen cents, but these seats must be secured before 6 p. m. on Tuesday evening. In the add columns today, the list of Miss La Porte's repertoire for the evenings will be found. The prices for this engagement are ten, twenty, thirty and fifty cents.

THE LYRIC.
Sunday.

Chapter six of both "Liberty" and "Peg O' the Ring" the two greatest serials ever attempted will be shown at the Lyric tomorrow. Liberty deals with life on the Mexican border, and is full of thrills, battles, raids and train wrecking, and the part of "Liberty" is protrayed by the screen's most versatile dramatic actor, Marie Walcamp and star cast, and as the chapters increase so does the thrills and excitement. "Peg o' the Ring" deals with life under the big circus tent and is full of pathos and dramatic scenes. Francis Ford and Grace Cunard the two greatest serial actors, stars of "The Broken Coin," and Lady Raffles serials, are seen at their greatest work in this serial. It is not too late to start to seeing these two serials as a complete synopsis is given of all the preceding chapters before the next two are shown at the Lyric tomorrow.

ALHAMBRA.

"At last, Nature rebels—Lola's health breaks down—and the doctor tells her she is afflicted with an incurable heart trouble."

After you have seen the feature, "Without A Soul," at the Alhambra theater on Sunday you will wonder why Nature does not rebel sooner. The work of Clara Kimball Young makes of the character Lola, a personage you should hate and despise yet recollecting her goodness before her reincarnation you cannot.

This is a five-part World Film story which will be long remembered.

The methods of unscrupulous mining and oil promoters to obtain money from the poor and ignorant, are ruthlessly exposed in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The Years of the Locust," being shown at the Alhambra on Monday and Tuesday, with the beautiful and versatile Fanny Ward in the principal role. Several incidents in the story show how these men rob the unsuspecting, and later it is shown how the federal government brings about their punishment. In the cast supporting Miss Ward are such distinguished artists as Jack Dean, Walter Long, Charles Ogle and others.

GEM.

If your family comes of old stock, if you are one who would like to establish aristocracy in America, if you are so proud of your lineage that you would have crests and ensigns everywhere you could find a place to attach a design—would you marry an actress? And if you are just "one of us"—a good, wholesome, clean, respectable American citizen—would you marry an actress?

In either event there will be great interest for you in "Saving the Family Name," the Bluebird photoplay to be exhibited at the Gem theater Sunday with Mary MacLaren in the principal role. This is another production by the Smalleys, with Phillip Smalley appearing as leading man, and Lois Weber, who created "Hyprocrites," the director of the production.

"Saving the Family Name" presents a new treatment of the ever interesting subject, the stage and theatrical life. It demonstrates the influence, for good or evil, that women in the public eye have upon young men of wealth. It presents the actress in an entirely new light, offers logical reasons for her peculiar conduct and presents with the forcefulness of firm conviction, a purposeful and moral photoplay as the acme of good entertainment.

Hidden Beauty—Clear Complexion.

"Passing Beauty" is often hidden under a chafed skin. Exposure to winter winds will produce a roughness which greatly detracts from what would otherwise be a good impression. The daily use of Sheeran's Cream of Quinceseed renders the complexion clear and smooth and the hands soft and white. Good appearance is a personal asset—cultivate it. Price 35c. NANCY BOYER WITH FAMOUS PRODUCING CO.

Miss Nancy Boyer, who has been starring over the international circuit in "The Little Lady From Lonesome Town," closed that production at the Orpheum theatre in Philadelphia last Saturday evening and has signed a contract to appear under the exclusive management of Stair & Havlin, big eastern booking agents.

Miss Boyer, with her company will open at the Lexington Avenue theater in New York City, in a revival of "Jerry," made famous by Billie Burke, for an extended run which may cover several months. The play will be elaborately mounted and the company has been augmented by the addition of several noted actors.

Miss Boyer has attracted the attention of several of the big eastern producers and she was offered a handsome sum to sign a Stair & Havlin contract. One of the most elaborate wardrobe orders ever given will be turned out for Miss Boyer by a French modiste in time for the opening night.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind—Easily and Cheaply Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The regular meeting of Newark Lodge No. 13 held on Thursday evening was well attended.

There was no degree work on for this occasion but on next Thursday evening the page rank will be conferred in the new form and there will be a quartet composed of women and men. The semi-annual election of officers will be on Thursday evening and at that time the vote will be taken for the grand officers and every past chancellor of Newark lodge No. 13 is urged to be present so that No. 13 will give B. F. McDonald a full vote.

The committee announces an entertainment on January 11 which will be open to the public.

Next Tuesday evening will occur the semi-annual election of officers and it is expected that a good crowd will be out. An effort is being made to get all past chancellors out to take part in the election of grand lodge officers. In addition to the above the page rank will be conferred. Last Tuesday evening a number of the brethren attended the session. While there was no degree work the two candidates left over from Nov. 21, were given the secret work and made a full-fledged knights. Two petitions for membership were balloted upon and duly elected. A number of other matters were taken up and discussed. The sick list is quite large at the present time, but so far as known none of the brothers are in a serious condition.

Last Saturday night Cliff Sturgeon won the ring vault with the bar at 10 ft. 4 in. which is an excellent record for this event and will probably give the rest of the ring vault stars a mark to shoot at for quite a while. Tonight's contest is the shot put. Fred Jones holds last year's record with 32 ft. 10 in.

General Secretary Frank L. Johnson will go to Steubenville Sunday, Dec. 10, to speak in one of the churches on the association work. The association at Steubenville will at that time begin a campaign for $50,000.

The board of trustees are anxious to have the association do it's part in supporting the work on the border. Any members who wish to help with this work or knowing others who would be glad to help should report to the general secretary.

Assistant Secretary A. T. Kent left at 1:45 yesterday on the B. and O., accompanied by Elwyn Davies, Chas. Mayer, Donald Power, and Wm. Bliss to attend the Ohio Older Boys' conference at Washington C. H., which lasts from Friday evening to Sunday evening. Every organized field in the state will be represented at this conference.

A movement is on foot to organize the association boys into a Boy City plan of government. If this is accomplished it will include all boys from 12 to 18 years of age. All the officers of a regular city will be maintained.

The talk on Salesmanship and Business Efficiency which was to be made by Supt. Wilson Hawkins on Friday night, was postponed on account of this being Thanksgiving week. Superintendent Hawkins will speak on the Real Test of Efficiency" later. Supt. Hawkins of the Public Welfare Bureau spoke last Friday evening.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Thanksgiving Day was a quiet one at the Association, quite a number of the girls are spending the week-end at their respective homes. Miss Elliott is in Cambridge for the week-end and gymnasium classes will begin again on Monday. The very enormous response of friends to the Harvest Day, held at the Association on last Saturday, helped to make Thanksgiving week a real season of thanksgiving, for behind the gift of donation, was the interest and good wishes of the giver, and the expressions of good will and appreciation on all sides were very encouraging.

The Saturday morning gymnasium class has organized a Pollyanna club. They met on Wedensday afternoon at the Association with Miss Dorothy Edmiston as leader, elected officers and made plans for the winter program and purpose, which will be to Make Others Glad.

No lecture was given this week in the course on Salesmanship and Business Efficiency at the Y. M. on account of Thanksgiving vacations, it is very desirous that a large number shall hear Mr. Wilson Hawkins in his subject, "The Real Test of Efficiency", the date will be placed at the close of the course. Next Thursday evening, December 7th, instead of the 8th as announced the regular talk will be given on Character and its Relation to Business Efficiency."

Saturday afternoons at the association, from 2 to 4:30 we are planning to make a time especially attractive to the girls of Newark. There are to be many things of interest "doing" at the association. Come once, and you will come again.

There will be no regular vesper services held this Sunday afternoon, but the secretaries will have an at home time for all girls who may care to spend an hour or so at the association, or merely drop in for a few minutes "get acquainted time."

"The tasks of the Young Women's Christian Association were never larger than now, and there never was a time that called more loudly for clear thinking, based on knowledge of facts, wise and definite planning, courageous, steady and unrelenting efforts toward the execution of these plans. A thousand voices call to us from our sisters at our sides, the girl who sits next us in class, the girl who sits on the next stool at the factory, the girl in the social set, the girl in the home, the woman who lives next door, even unto the secretaries on the staff, they are calling for what we have to share." When this is true, dare we fail to answer with our best, will you not share some of your time, some of your interest and sympathy, some of your talents? Can you afford not to, when the call is so loud and so urgent. We need right here in Newark volunteer workers, young women of leisure to lead clubs and classes, to share enthusiasm with those who have none, to help make the work here reach out to every girl that has a need for the "House of Friendliness." Why not have a share in this great opportunity for "Sharing Your Best?"

Attaches at the hospital hold out little hope for the youth's recovery. His skull was fractured from above the right eye back to the base of the skull.

AMERICAN CAMERA MEN.

Always on the Alert to Anticipate Events of the News.

It is safe to say that American camera men lead the world in alertness and enterprise and in that illusive talent known as "news sense." The news photographer is expected to anticipate the news. He must look far ahead, calculate future news values and supply photographs which events months later may render valuable. Long before the presidential nominations are made, for instance, he must secure portrait studies, not only of the probable nominees of every party, but of possible dark horses. When the names of the nominees are flashed over the country the newspapers must have pictures ready to publish.

The news of the great naval battle between the English and German fleets off the coast of Jutland came absolutely without warning, but nevertheless the American papers were able to publish within the hour photographs of the vessels engaged. The photographs had been collected months, even years, before in all parts of the world and kept against a possible time of need in thousands of newspaper offices. Even the unexpected death of the president of China did not catch the American papers napping, and the cabled announcement of his death was illustrated with his portrait and that of his successor and his cabinet.

All photographs of news interest with even a remote chance of having any future value are carefully preserved and classified in newspaper offices. The great dailies have enormous collections of such views gathered in all parts of the world, which are kept in readiness against a time of need. One firm in New York has a collection, which is constantly growing, of upward of a million such pictures. The collections contain thousands of portraits of people in the public life of every country in the world. Every city of importance has been photographed, as well as scenes illustrating every conceivable human activity which by any chance may figure in the news. Let some accident occur, some event of general interest in the most remote corner of the world, a battle, a storm, an earthquake, any untoward event, and by drawing on the inexhaustible supply of this library the newspapers will appear on the street an hour or so later with the actual photographs of the scene.—"The Camera Man," by Francis A. Collins.

STORAGE BATTERIES.

Keeping Them In Use Is Better Than Letting Them Stand Idle.

Few persons whose everyday life is in some way dependent upon the storage battery know the paradoxical truth that the more it is used the longer it lives. Thus a great mistake is made by automobile owners, for instance, in allowing batteries to stand idle for long periods of time, for when storage batteries are not in action the plates are subject to attack by the acid solution. If this corrosive process is allowed to continue uninterruptedly the entire surface of the plates becomes covered with a hard layer of sulphate, which destroys the porous texture of the plates and makes them incapable of engaging in normal electrolytic action, but when the batteries are being used to generate electricity the constant shifting of the atoms in the metallic plates prevents the accumulation of sulphate deposits.

Instead of lying unused, storage batteries can be applied to the lighting of ornamental lamps or night lamps with no expense except for occasional recharging and with a saving of electric light bills as well as much lengthening the life of the batteries.

When storage batteries are to remain totally idle for as long as two months the acid solution should be removed from the porous plates. To do this they should be short circuited in water and discharged until the voltage is about half a volt. Then they should be rinsed thoroughly and allowed to soak in water for at least a day. When the plates are dried they can be kept indefinitely without fear of deterioration.—New York World.

Superstition That Is Ancient.
In many parts of Great Britain the superstition still survives that it is folly to save a drowning man, as he will sooner or later do an injury to the rescuer. The superstition comes down from our ancestors, yet traces of it exist among the Sioux and other Indians, who seem to have inherited it from aboriginal sources. The belief is most prevalent in Cornwall and various parts of Scotland.

Mighty Jupiter.
Jupiter, the largest of the planets, is 1,300 times the bulk and 310 times the mass of the earth, and accomplishes its rotation on its axis in nine hours fifty minutes. As the equatorial circumference is 275,000 miles, the linear rotational velocity of a point on the equator is nearly eight miles a second.

Degrees of Fatigue.
"Here's a millionaire says you soon get tired of riding in private yachts and automobiles."

"Not half as tired as you get of walking a couple of miles to work every day just to save carfare." — Baltimore American.

The Grounds.
"So old Williams is looking for a divorce from his young wife. On what grounds?"

"On the grounds of economy, I guess."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Not Free.
"Is this a free translation?" asked a customer in the book store.

"No, sir," replied the clerk. "It will cost you $1.50."—Boston Transcript.

"And why did you not tell Satan to get behind you?"

Camera Men and War Pictures.
The camera man in search of lively war pictures often enjoys the protection of a special guard, which is especially detailed to protect him. Since the camera does not shoot as far as a gun, the photographer often works at an immense disadvantage. The camera makes a conspicuous target and often draws the enemy's fire. The special camera guard, which originated in one of the early Villa campaigns in Mexico, consists of two picked men, perhaps more, who accompany the photographer or skirmish ahead of him to render his position as safe as possible when the camera is set up. Many thousands of feet of war film have been made while sharpshooters on both sides kept up a steady and effective fire. A guard of two American Indians, both crack shots, were employed for many weeks to protect L. M. Burrud, an American camera man, who accompanied Villa in one of his campaigns. The Indians' stealth and daring in reconnoitering the ground in advance often proved indispensable.—"The Camera Man," by Francis Arnold Collins.

Stage Names and Real.
The extent to which favorite actresses are somebody else off the stage is not well understood. Actors generally play under their own names, but the woman who has achieved a reputation before marriage prefers to retain the name under which she became known rather than assume that of her husband. Some women, too, play while unmarried under another name than the real one.

For instance, Maude Adams is really Miss Kiskadden, and Marie Dressler is Lelia Koerber. Jack and Ethel Barrymore are properly called Blythe, and Truly Shattuck is Clarice Etrulia de Bucharde, a name rather too long for the stage. Theater goers seem to like short names easily remembered. Trixie Friganza is really Della Edna O'Callahan, and Mary Mannering is Florence Friend; Elsie Janis was formerly Elsie Bierbower, and Margaret Anglin is Mary Warren. And so it goes through the list.—Boston Herald.

Orkney Islands In Pawn.
The Orkney islands, says Pearson's Magazine, do not really belong to Great Britain in the sense that they were ever ceded by treaty or acquired by conquest. They were simply transferred by Denmark to Scotland in 1468, in pledge for the payment of the dowry of the Princess of Denmark, who was married to James III., king of Scotland. In the deed of transfer, which is still in existence, it is specially mentioned that Denmark shall have the right to redeem them at any future time by paying the original amount of the dowry with interest to date.

There is no likelihood, however, that Denmark will ever attempt to exercise her right of redemption, because 60,000 florins, the original amount of the dowry, plus compound interest for 448 years, would amount to perhaps £1,000,000,000,000, and that is a bit more than the islands are worth.

"Thanks For the Ducks."
An official in one of the largest manufacturing concerns in Philadelphia recently showed me the huge plant. I marveled at the labor saving machinery.

"One of our workmen," he said, "has made a great many of the improvements you see in this room. He likes to go duck shooting, and while off on a trip for a week or more he thinks out some new way to save labor."

After a moment's pause he added:

"Why, he turned up one day with a plan whereby we save $50,000 a year."

"And what," I inquired, "does that workman get out of it?"

"Oh," the happy official replied, "he gets the ducks."—Girard in Philadelphia Ledger.

Simple Arithmetic.
A little boy who had not learned how to count one day received three apples from a friend.

He was very pleased and told his mother afterward.

"How many apples did you get?" she asked.

"I don't know just how many mother," he replied, "but I got one in the middle and two outside."—New York Times.

Not Guilty.
Little Charley had been spanked by his mother for stealing cookies. His cousin, who was present, wishing to comfort him, said: "Poor Charley! You have my sympathy." Looking up through his tears, he protested: "I have not! I didn't touch it!"—Boston Transcript.

The Ancient Mayas.
It is urged by an archaeologist that the Mayas, who once inhabited America, had a civilization as far advanced as that of any early people except the Greeks. The dwellers in the jungles of Yucatan, Guatemala and Honduras are believed to be their descendants.

Clam Shells.
Clam shells are susceptible of a fine polish and are used for many ornamental purposes. Chinese carve them into snuffboxes, tops of walking sticks, bracelets and similar articles.

Merely a Delusion.
Insurance Doctor—Any insanity in your family? Cholly—Only—aw—the pater—thinks he's the head of the house, ye know.—Boston Globe.

Strong on Bills.
Winkle—My wife would make a good member of congress. Hinkle—Why? Winkle—She's always introducing bills into the house.

Where love and skill work together, expect a masterpiece.—Reade.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. The Christmas Peal

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD

SWINGING across the belfry tower
The bells rang backward all the hour.
They rang, they reeled, they rushed, they roared;
Their tongues tumultuous music poured.
The old walls rocked; the peals outswept;
Far up the steep their echoes leaped,
Soaring and sparkling till they burst
Like bubbles round the topmost horn
That reddens to the hint of morn,
That halts some trembling star the first,
And all the realms of ice and frost
From field to field those joy bells tossed.
They answered from their airy height;
They thrilled; they loosed their bands for flight;
They knew that it was Christmas night.

Where awful absences of sound
The gorge in death's dumb rigor bound,
Below and deep within the wood,
Windless and weird the black pines stood.
The iron boughs slow swaying rose
And fell and shook their sifted snows
And stirred in every stem and branch
To the wild music in the air
From far lone upper regions where
Loose plunged the silver avalanche.
All up and down the valley side
These iron boughs swayed far and wide.
They heard the cry along the height;
They poised in time with that glad flight;
They knew that it was Christmas night.

You who with quickening throbs shall mark
Such swells and falls swim on the dark
As crisp as if the clustered rout
In starry depths sprang chiming out,
As if the Pleiades should sing,
Lyra should touch her tenderest string,
Aldebaran his spear heads clang,
Great Betelgeuse and Sirius blow
Their mighty horns and Fomalhaut
With wild sweet breath suspended hang,
Know 'tis your heartbeats with those bells,
Loosen the snow clouds' vibrant cells.
Stir the vast forest on the height,
Your heartbeats answering to the light
Flashed earthward the first Christmas night.

Some Christmas Beliefs

Holly berries possess and give wonderful power when worn in the shape of a wreath, which must be made in imitation of the sacred crown of thorns and of berries as red as blood, and the wearer must go alone at midnight on Christmas and sit in a church in the dark, according to an ancient belief. Second sight will then come to him, and into the church will file those of his friends who will die during the coming year. Worn on Christmas eve the holly wreath will evoke visions of spirit forms coming in the air to sing their Noel songs, and all the beasts will be seen to kneel down in worship. If preserved for a year the crown will give the owner safety from violence. In some parts of England it is believed that unless every bit of holly be removed from the house by Twelfth Night some ill luck will come. Mince pies can also bring luck, but only one must be offered and eaten in the house.

The one accepted and eaten will insure to the eater a portion of good luck on a day to come in the ensuing year. To eat two would spoil the luck, as if three be eaten on Christmas in one house ill luck will follow. If the pie's crust be in the shape of a manger (the first mince pies ever made had crusts of this shape), then the luck is better. To represent the manger strips of pastry used to be laid crosswise over the pie.

The same power as the bride cake is possessed by the Yule cake on Christmas night, and if a maiden place a piece of it under her pillow on Christmas night she will dream of her future husband. A portion of the cake should be kept for the next year, as it brings luck to the house.

If one would have a successful year he or she must again partake of the plum pudding on New Year's day.

In thoughts, as in life, you reap what you sow.

ODD FELLOWS EAT TURTLES ARRESTED SPEEDING ON PIKE

Two fine turtles, arrested by James Richter, special state speed officer, for speeding on the National pike several weeks ago, paid the penalty for violation of the speed law with their lives. The death sentence was carried out early yesterday morning and last night the "remains" of the turtles furnished the basis for a splendid repast at a meeting of Newark lodge, No. 623, I. O. O. F.

Col. W. C. Seward and Mr. Richter engineered the feed and more than fifty members of the order, with a number of invited guests partook of the splendid repast. Fearing that some of the guests might think the turtle soup was of the canned variety, the chefs had on display the heads of the two victims. Although they were beheaded early Friday morning the turtles were still "alive" as was indicated by the frequent movement of their jaws.

Following the supper, several short talks were made by members and guests. They were C. L. Flory, L. C. Russell, Dr. J. V. Scott, F. A. Woolson, Dr. P. H. Cosner, Col. Seward and Mr. Richter. Col. Seward's mule story and Dr. Cosner's story of the father of sixteen produced the laughs. R. A. Belt was released from the Mansfield reformatory in time to reach Newark soon after the guests were seated at the table and he presided as toastmaster, though he did not miss any of the supper between introductions.
